Campus Tour Questions for Student Athletes

When visiting colleges as a prospective student-athlete, it's important to gather as much information as possible to make an informed decision. Below are essential questions to consider asking during your college tour, directed towards coaches, current players, and academic advisors.

Questions for the Coach

- Program and Coaching:
 - What is your coaching philosophy and team's playing style?
 - How do you develop players and handle team discipline?
 - What are the team's goals for the upcoming seasons?
 - Can you describe the team's practice facilities and off-season training regimen?
- Your Role:
 - What position do you envision for me, and what are my strengths and weaknesses?
 - What is the likelihood of playing time as a freshman?
 - Are there opportunities for redshirting?
- Scholarships and Financial Aid:
 - What types of financial aid or athletic scholarships are available?
 - Are scholarships renewable, and what are the renewal criteria?
 - What happens to my scholarship if I am injured?

Questions for Current Players

- Team Culture and Experience:
 - How would you describe the team culture and your relationship with the coaching staff?
 - How do you balance academics with athletics, and what support is available?
 - What is the social life like, and are there team traditions or rituals?
- Academics and Support:
 - What academic support services are available for athletes?
 - How do professors accommodate your schedules?

Questions for Academic Advisors/Admissions Staff

- Academics:
 - What academic support services are available, and what are the graduation rates for athletes?

- Are there specific majors that are demanding for student-athletes?
- Admissions:
 - What are the admissions requirements and process for student-athletes?
 - What factors are considered in the admissions decision?

General College Information

- What is the overall cost of attendance, and what financial aid options are available?
- What is the campus environment like, and what are the housing options?
- What clubs, organizations, and recreational facilities are available?

By asking these questions, you can better assess which college will provide the best fit for your academic and athletic goals.
